GRUESOME RELICS OF COOK CASE DISPLAYED IN COURT

Coroner Coleman's Sensational Evidence Fairly
Staggers the Attorneys for the Defense and Causes a Stir in the Court Room.

Immense Throng Crowds Court House and Manifests Great Interest in Case—Congressman Watson is Suddenly Taken Ill and Trial is Continued a Half Day.

Just before court adjourned yesterday, Prosecutor Bassett in his opening statement in part said: "The evidence in this case will show that on the 12th day of August, 1905, Norman Cook went to the home of Anna Bankert about 5 o'clock p. m.; that near 7 o'clock of that day Anna Bankert said that she would go upstairs to get a lamp; that she went upstairs; that she came down stairs (the evidence will show, gentlemen, that she brought the lamp down stairs with her). The evidence will show that she took a revolver and returned to that upstairs room and shot Norman Cook, the evidence will show that Norman Cook, by some means, had his neck cut, the back of his neck, to the bone. It will show that he had upon his head, bruises and cuts. The evidence will show that soon after midnight, or early in the morning of August 13th, 1905, Norman Cook died from the effects of these wounds, and, as was said before, the evidence will show that Anna Bankert fired six shots. The evidence will show, gentlemen of the jury, that Norman Cook, was seen going to the Bankert home on the evening of August 12th. It may show that, at the time that these shots were fired, that the husband of Anna Bankert was present part of the time, and part of the time he was down stairs, but that he got upstairs soon after the first shot was fired. It will show that there were five shots fired, I believe—and then there was an intermission of some little space of time and that during that intermission, Norman Cook went from the south room where he was first shot, across a hallway into the north room, and when he was in the north room, his neck was cut by some means. The evidence will show that while he was in the south room Anna Bankert pounded him on the head with a revolver, and it will show that after he went into the north room two shots were fired from a 32-caliber revolver and the first five being fired from a 38-caliber revolver. To prove these things beyond a reasonable doubt, then the State shall have made her case."

Court convened at 8:30 in the Bankert trial today. The jury took their seats and Judge Sparks rapped for order.

Mrs. Bankert had previously taken her seat on the left side of the room. She wore the white silk waist of yesterday, but a brown skirt and hat. Her youngest son, Howard, was seated at her right. Mrs. Bankert was very calm and fanned herself continually with a black fan.

Immediately after Judge Sparks called for order, the State's witnesses were called and sworn in a body.

The attorneys for the State then filed a motion to separate the witnesses. Both the defense and the prosecution lead in some cases subpoenaed the same parties as witnesses and the prosecution did not wish them all in the court room at one time. Argument on this motion was at once taken up, Congressman Watson opening for the defense. He argued that the witnesses should not be separated, claiming, as the prosecution had had the advantage of the coroner's and the grand jury's investigation, the State knew what the witnesses were going to swear to and that there could be no fraud. Judge Sparks sustained the motion of the State's attorneys, and announced that all witnesses in the case must leave the room, going to the library and grand jury room, with orders not to leave the court house. Congressman Watson then asked that this rule do not apply to Sylvester K. Bankert, husband of the defendant, inasmuch as the attorneys for the defense needed him in the room. Judge Sparks permitted Mr.

Bankert to remain in the room, together with Howard, the younger son.

Sylvester K. Bankert, husband of the defendant, was the first witness called. He seemed rather excited when he took the stand. He stated that he was acquainted with Norman Cook, and that he saw him at his home in the presence of his wife, in answer to a question from Attorney Bassett. The witness was then asked in what position was Cook when the witness came upstairs. Witness answered that he was on his knees. Mrs. Bankert was hammering Cook over the head with a revolver. Witness took the revolver, a 32-caliber, and pushed the defendant from the room. Witness testified that he was in the east part of the dining room down stairs when he heard the shots fired. He said that his son Ralph came up immediately behind. Cook was grabbing at Mrs. Bankert's dress, but failed to catch hold of her. Witness said he sent Ralph to phone for a doctor. He did not then know, however, to a certainty that Cook was shot, but supposed he was. Witness started to tell what Cook said, but the defense objected. The objection was overruled. Cook said, "I am bleeding to death." Witness said he went down stairs, leaving Cook in the room and laid the revolver on the mantel in the sitting room. Anna Bankert preceded him downstairs. Mr. Bankert was then asked if he had seen any comfort and pillow on the floor. The defense objected and the objection was sustained. Witness testified that he went back upstairs. Cook had raised up on his elbow and said, "Help me." Witness assisted Cook across the hall and into the north room. Witness did not know then where his wife was, but stated that she came upstairs and into the north room. Witness then heard two more shots and took a 32-caliber revolver away from Cook. Cook was lying on the floor and was calling for water.

When asked if Cook said, "Close the door; don't let Anna in here any more," witness replied "no." He did not notice any cut on Cook's neck when he assisted him across the hall. He did not think that he got any blood on his clothes. He did not see any one cut Cook's neck. Cook lived until 12 o'clock. Witness testified that he saw Cook's body after death and that he testified before the grand jury.

All was quiet in the court room, the immense crowd paying the closest attention to the proceedings.

Ora W. Herkless, county surveyor, who made a blue print map of the house, was next called, but was not present.

Ralph Bankert, the fourteen-year-old son of the defendant, was the next witness called. He appeared to be somewhat frightened when he took the stand. He stated that he was acquainted with Cook and that he saw him on August 12th, 1905, in the south upstairs room at his home, five miles south of this city. Cook, when the witness first saw him, was lying on his elbow near the pallet, with his head to the north. Witness stood at the head of the stair case in the hall. His father was between witness and the door of the south room. His mother was in the room, and was striking Cook over the head with an object the identity of which he was unable to determine. He was asked if he saw his father take anything away from the defendant. The defense objected and the objection was sustained. Witness answered that he did not.

He said that he saw his father reading on the front porch just prior to the firing of the shots. He did not see his father go upstairs. Witness testified that he heard Cook say in the south room, "I am bleeding to death." He testified that the shots sounded as though they came from the sitting room. He found nothing in the sitting room, however, when he ran into the house. He testified that his father sent him to Claude Walker's to telephone for a doctor. The witness was asked if at the time he saw his mother striking Cook over the head, he heard anything said by either party in the room. The defense objected, but the objection was overruled. Witness testified he heard nothing said in the room. Witness testified that, upon his return from the Walker home, fifteen minutes later, he went upstairs, Cook was lying on the floor in the north room. Sylvester Bankert was in the room. He did not see Sadie Smay that time. His mother was not there. He heard no more shots. He did not notice any cut in Cook's neck. The witness was asked what he saw on the floor in the south room. The defense objected, but the objection was overruled. Witness said that there was a folded comfort and pillow on the floor near the bed, which stood in the southeast corner. The witness did not know how many shots were fired.

Prosecutor Bassett then spread out upon the floor in front of the witness a blue print map of the house. Both the witness and his father recognized it as correct. Ralph testified that he noticed no blood near Cook when the latter lay in the north room. He saw blood spots in the south room. There was blood upon the comfort. There was no stream of blood from the south room to the north room. The witness was turned over to the defense and ordered to stand aside. Ralph and his father were each on the stand for a half hour.

When Coroner Coleman, who was the next witness, took the stand some sensational evidence, hitherto unknown to the public, was brought out. The coroner testified that he was called to the home of Dr. Frank Green, with whom he went in an automobile to the Bankert home. They arrived there at about 7:20. Cook was lying in the north room on the floor with his head to the East. He was pale and weak from loss of blood, and was in a semi-conscious condition. He asked for water, but said nothing else. The coroner then described the six bullet wounds and the cut upon Cook's neck. The openings of nearly all of the wounds were located on the left side of the body and the State attempted to show by their course that Cook was lying face downward at the time he was shot. Coroner Coleman stated that Cook died of shock and loss of blood at 12:10 a. m. Sunday, August 13th, and that he, in his official capacity, at once began an examination of the rooms and witnesses. The coroner found blood spots on the door casing and on the banister in the hall. Cook wore a pair of light blue trousers, a shirt, drawers, shoes and socks. He wore no coat.

At this juncture, Prosecutor Bassett unwrapped a package containing Cook's blood-stained clothes and spread them about the floor, in front of the jury. The revolvers, razor, bullets, shells and a letter were laid upon a table in front of the jury. Cook's shirt was stiff with blood stains and was badly torn and cut.

Coroner Coleman explained that this was done when the clothes were hurriedly torn from Cook's body, so that the physicians might get at the wounds.

When these gruesome relics of the murder were displayed, the crowd in the court room rose and there was a craning of necks to see. The letter was one that the coroner had found in Cook's pockets. It was written by Mrs. Bankert to Cook's sister at Connersville.

Coroner Coleman was then asked if he had made any other examination of Cook's clothes and upon answering that he had, he was asked to tell what he had found. Congressman Watson, for the defense objected strenuously, renewing his objections from time to time. He held that the question was not a proper one as the clothes had been in the possession of the coroner and no one else had had access to them. The objection was overruled. The coroner then produced four rubber instruments of a lewd nature which he had found in Cook's pocket. One of these the witness testified was wet when he found it and he stated that it was not wet from blood. This evidence, which the State had been keeping in the dark, fairly staggered the defense which offered objection after objection. When the witness was turned over to the defense he was put through a rigid cross-examination as to his knowledge in chemistry, etc.

A strong but apparently fruitless effort was made to break down this evidence.

While Coroner Coleman was on the stand, court took a recess of twenty minutes. The coroner's evidence pertained largely to his investigation and the autopsy. He was on the stand for over an hour.

Dr. Frank H. Green, who attended Cook, was the next witness. He testified as to his trip to the Bankert home, his attendance upon Cook and the nature of the wounds, almost any one of which, he said, would have produced death. Dr. Green was upon the stand for three quarters of an hour. Following his testimony the jury over the objections of the defense, inspected the relics of the tragedy and court adjourned for the noon hour.

Some four hundred people crowded the court room and the corridors this afternoon. The courtroom was packed, people standing about the walls and in the doors and in the aisles.

Just before court convened the attorneys for the defense announced the sudden illness of Congressman Watson, who was not feeling well last night and this forenoon and who was taken so much worse at noon that he was unable to leave his bed. The attorneys for the defense and the attorneys for the State held a short consultation with Judge Sparks.

On account of Mr. Watson's illness the defense wanted the attorneys for the State to agree to a continuance of the case until tomorrow morning. Prosecution would not agree, and the attorneys for the defense left to prepare an affidavit asking for a continuance.

While they were out, Prosecutor Bassett, jokingly remarked that probably the evidence submitted this morning by the State made Mr. Watson so sick that it was necessary to apply restoratives in the shape of ice, water bottle and hot irons.

These two men have had quite a time poking fun at one another. Yesterday when Prosecutor Bassett, while impeaching a jury, asked a juror if he or any of his relatives had ever held office through the assistance of Mr. Watson, especially when the juror was known to be a staunch Democrat, Mr. Watson would answer, "No, Elmer, I never made appointments on that side of the fence."

Attorneys Green, Morgan and Titsworth returned to the court room at 2:30, after preparing an affidavit for a continuance. Attorney Titsworth read the document to Mrs. Bankert, who signed it. Mrs. Baker, of Washington township, who is a sister of Mrs. Bankert sat by her side in court this afternoon. Attorney Titsworth then filed the affidavit for continuance with the court. Attached to the affidavit was an affidavit from Dr. J. C. Sexton, certifying to Mr. Watson's illness. The attorneys for the State read it, and Judge Sparks rapped for order. Argument on the motion was then had. Prosecutor Kiplinger and Prosecutor Bassett made the arguments for the State, and Attorneys Titsworth argued for the defense. Judge Sparks at 3 o'clock granted the continuance. The case will, therefore, be taken up tomorrow morning at 8:30.

Harry E. Cook, of Sterling, Colorado, who came to this city in the early part of the week, and who has, since that time, been visiting relatives at Laurel, appeared in court this afternoon. He was seated near the attorneys for the State and will remain here during the trial.

DEATHS

Albert, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Trowbridge, died at their home on West Fifth street at 9 o'clock this morning. The burial occurred at East Hill cemetery this afternoon.

Alex, the four-year-old grandson of Alexander Helm, who has had charge of the grading on the I. & O., east of this city, died at 8 o'clock last night of meningitis at Sexton's sanitarium. The body was shipped to Streeter, Ill., at 2:30 this afternoon.

Russell, the ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Wolf, who had been dangerously ill for some time, died at their home on West Fourth street, yesterday afternoon. The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the residence, conducted by Rev. W. W. Sniff. The burial will occur at East Hill cemetery.

The Daughters of Pochontas will have a called meeting tonight. All members are urged to be present.

WRECK WAS COSTLY ONE

Property Loss in C., H. & D.
Disaster Will Reach Nearly $100,000.

Conductor Fox, of the Freight Train, Who Took to Woods is Still Missing.

Since the excitement has abated in the miraculous escape from death by the many passengers in the wreck on the C., H. & D. railway at Glenwood Wednesday afternoon, it has developed to be the most damaging wreck in the road's history on this division. The financial loss to the company, as given in a conservative estimate by a railroad official will aggregate nearly $100,000.

The engine, which was one of the fastest on the road, together with six freight cars, all of which were heavily laden with merchandise, and the baggage and combination smoker were destroyed by fire. Also the baggage of the passengers and pouches of mail were lost.

The cause of the wreck, after investigation Thursday, has been confirmed to be due to the alleged carelessness of William H. Fox, of Indianapolis, conductor in charge of local freight No. 87, who took to his heels and who is still missing. As told by some members they were busy switching and apparently Fox failed to take cognizance of time and forgot all about the passenger train until it whistled at the curve, only a hundred yards away.

Fox was near his train when he heard the passenger whistle. He knew what would happen and seemed to realize that he would be given the blame, as his train was occupying the main track when it should have been clear. Fox is alleged to have said when he heard the passenger whistle, "My God, what's that!" He then started to run, not waiting to see what the result of the crash might be, and the last heard of him he was coming toward Rushville, without his coat and apparently wandering aimlessly. A man who gave his name as Carlton Chaney was at the scene of the wreck Wednesday night. He said Fox stopped at his home a mile and a half west of Glenwood and got a drink. Chaney ascertained from Fox the trouble he was in and said he tried to get him to return to Glenwood, but the man was apparently afraid that he would be done bodily harm. Throughout this city a good deal of sympathy is expressed for Fox. The two brakemen of the local crew made no attempt to follow Fox. One brakeman, Frank M. Johnson, is said to have belonged to the crew of the train which was struck at Indianapolis by the ill-fated Purdue special.

Conductor Fox evidently knew he was at least close to No. 411's time. He started a flagman out to warn the passenger, but the flagman had only gotten about two car lengths up the track when he heard the passenger whistle for the clearance signal. It was too late.

Brakeman Johnson, of the freight it is said, will also be held in a manner responsible, as he had charge of the rear end of the train which occupied the main track.

One of the most painfully injured men was William Wise, of Indianapolis, the baggage man on the passenger train.

His car was next to the engine. He said that he knew when he felt the shock caused by the reversing of the engine and the applying of the emergency brakes that there was something about to happen. The door on the right side of his car was open and he was just getting ready to throw off a bundle of papers at the Glenwood station when the shock came. He jumped out the door and how it happened he is unable to explain, but landed on top of one of the box cars on the siding. The force kept his body moving and he went on over the car and fell to the ground. The train had not yet come to a standstill, but nevertheless he was thrown, as he left his car through a sheet of flame. His upper lip and left side of his face were burned, but the most serious burns were inflicted on his hands. He was assisted to a residence nearby where medical attention was quickly given him. He suffered quite a little, but his injuries are not dangerous, and he was removed to his home at Indianapolis yesterday morning.

J. A. Grosoup, the traveling man, and William Wilson, the fireman of the passenger, who were the worst injured, remained under the care of physicians at Glenwood, Thursday and there were hopes today for their recovery. The other injured passengers who were taken care of over night at Glenwood were able to be removed to their homes Thursday morning.

SHERICK IS ARRESTED

Grand Jury Found Indictment Against Former Auditor of State.

Indianapolis, Sept. 29.—David E. Sherick, former Auditor of State and removed by Governor Hanley, was arrested at his home today on an indictment by the grand jury, charging him with grand larceny, embezzlement and conspiracy to defraud. He gave bond in the sum of $20,000.

ARRESTED ON THEFT CHARGE

William Easley is Accused of Stealing Roscoe Morgan's Watch.

Police Officer Gordon arrested William Easley, colored, Thursday evening on the charge of petit larceny. Roscoe Morgan filed the charge against the young colored boy, claiming that Easley stole his gold watch from a room over Edgerton's hardware store.

Easley denies the charges preferred against him. He claims that he bought the watch of another colored gentleman for $1, and that he sold it again to William Blakeman for $1.50, not knowing that the watch had been stolen. Easley claims that the fellow who stole the watch has left town on account of being charged with other thefts.

EPIDEMIC IS UNDER CONTROL

Rushville Has Been in Danger
From Spread of Dreaded Diseases.

Few of the citizens of this city have realized the great danger that we have been in on account of the epidemic diseases which have lately appeared in this community.

Especially have the pupils in the public schools been in danger of catching infectious diseases. Twenty-six school children in all have been expelled from the schools on account of their being exposed or having symptoms of scarlet fever and diphtheria. Supt. Scholl, of the schools in this city, has sent every pupil home who was thought to have symptoms of either of these diseases. Doctors have visited the school buildings three times in order to examine the pupils.

Two cases of diphtheria and one of scarlet fever are in the care of the health authorities at the present time, and it is thought that by carefully confining the people with these diseases, that the danger will all soon be past.

—E. M. Kelley is visiting relatives at Cincinnati this week.

HIS LIFE IS STRENUOUS

Wilbert Hunt, son of Riley
Hunt, Famous as Football Player.

Boy Who Became Famous in
Leap-the-Gap Stunt Meets
Another Accident.

The Indianapolis Star this morning contained another chapter in the strenuous life led by Wilbert Hunt, son of Riley Hunt, of Indianapolis, and formerly of this city. The Star says:

Wilbert Hunt, 2916 Kenwood avenue, victim of a leap-the-gap "stunt," performed three weeks ago, in which he rode down a shed roof on an old bicycle and suffered injuries, is now a victim of the football game. Young Hunt now has a broken collar bone.

His last accident occurred during a "workout" at Delaware and Twenty-fourth streets of candidates for the Lincoln Park Athletic club foot ball team. Hunt was "making good" on the team, but while he was executing a "pretty" play a heavy fellow fell upon him, inflicting the injury to his clavicle.

The boy, however, did not lose his "nerve." Although his suffering was great he walked to the office of Dr. O. N. Torlan, 3005 North Illinois street. There his mother found him under the care of the physician.

The physician, when he started to examine the boy's injuries, encountered some difficulty. The lad was proud of his "football sweater," and when the physician undertook to use a knife in removing the sweater, he raised strong objection. Although suffering great pain he insisted that the garment be removed in the regular way, so it would not be damaged. His wishes were respected.

Once before in the first of a series of accidents which has caused his parents much worry, the boy's collar bone was broken. He has been injured many times in various ways and members of his family are wondering what will come next.

Norwegians are to hold a plebiscite (a vote of the whole people) to decide on a future form of government. The sentiment in favor of a republic is increasing.

"Let well enough alone" is the way Vice President Fairbanks expresses the "stand pat" principle. The people of Ohio will not ignore this advice from a close neighbor.

Japan's war losses are: Killed, 46,180; died of wounds, 10,970; died from sickness, 15,300. The percentage of deaths from sickness was less than one-fourth of the total deaths, which is not paralleled in the annals of war.

We doubt if people here in the North realize the extent of the panic in the South as a result of the yellow fever. A Texarkana paper makes the statement that that city has a normal population of 30,000, and 22,000 of these people have gone North to avoid yellow fever. We presume the 8000 which are left out of the 30,000 didn't have the money to go North.

The Huntington county court house which is being built by P. H. McCormack, of Columbus, Ind., will cost about $400,000 when completed and furnished. Under the original contract the court house was to cost $260,000, but so many extras have been added that it will bring the cost up to the sum named. It seems as though it is impossible to build a court house without the extras to run the price up to about double the original contract.

Columbus Republican: Congressman James E. Watson may be made the whip of the house at the opening of the coming congress. So says one of the recent dispatches from the region where that kind of whip is most effectively applied. Of course everybody that knows genial Jim Watson will hesitate to believe that this means anything but the kindest attentions from this same Congressman. The whip in Congress is merely required to see that the majority members are on hand when there is to be a vote on an important measure. If the brilliant Hoosier should be chosen for this important work there is no doubt that the work of whipping the members into line for service will be done with as little sting in the last as possible.

AN INVESTIGATION

Is Being Made of Notorious "Baby Farms" at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, September 29.—Judge Stubbs of the Indianapolis juvenile court, who is an expert of national reputation on the matter of dealing with youthful prisoners, says there should be a state law to prevent the "baby farming" that is going on here. He has found that one agent of a "baby farm" placed a helpless and unfortunate infant of less than two weeks old with a family of beggars, where it would doubtless have been reared as a beggar. He took the child away and gave it to a charitable organization, but of course it is impossible for him to get to all cases. An investigation is now being conducted to learn just how far the "baby farming" has gone. It is said that there are four or five such institutions here. Unwelcome babies are left to the mercy of the agents of the places, who receive $3 to $5 for getting them home. Judge Stubbs will probably have something to say about the matter at the next session of the legislature.

The auditing committee of the United Mine Workers of America arrived here today to begin the quarterly investigation of the accounts of President Mitchell, Secretary-Treasurer Wilson and Vice President Lewis. About two weeks will be required for the work, for there is a vast amount of business connected with the largest labor organization in the world. The result will be awaited with unusual interest owing to the rumors that the operators are preparing for a general shut-down next spring and that the miners are getting ready for another big strike in the anthracite fields. It has been reported frequently during the last few months that the miners' national organization had a million dollar defense fund to start with, but the reports are probably exaggerations, as the last quarterly report showed that the organization had on deposit about $375,000. The expenses in the interim are heavy, as about 90,000 men are out of work, so it is not likely that the miners have more than half a million in their national treasury to start with.

After an all-day conference with J. Knox Taylor, supervising architect of the treasury department, the Harrison monument commission decided to abandon its plans to erect the monument in honor of the late ex-president in front of the new federal building. Taylor objected to the design for a large pedestal presented by the commission and finally stated that he would only consent to a small square base that would not mar the beauty of the new building. This was objectionable to the commission, and its president, John B. Elam, announced that another site will be selected. He said the monument will probably be located in University park, where Mr. Harrison made many famous speeches during his presidential campaigns.

The celebration of Rosh Hoshana, the Jewish new year, will begin this evening at 6 o'clock and continue until 6 Sunday evening. The celebrations will mark the advent of the 5666th year, according to the Jewish calendar. Religious services will be held and gifts exchanged by the members of that faith. Rosh Hoshana is a day of solemn reflection for the Hebrew. The observer is called upon to consider his past conduct and his future career. For this reason the holiday has come to be known as the Day of Judgment. Merry-making is abandoned for the time and serious thought and contemplation on life and religion are engaged in.

Officer Acted in Self-Defense.

Carmi, Ill., Sept. 29.—Town Marshal Edward Trapp of Carmi shot and instantly killed William Scarborough of Evansville, Ind., here last night. Scarborough, who had been working in Carmi several weeks, had a quarrel with his sweetheart and started in search of his rival. When the marshal attempted to arrest him, Scarborough pulled his razor and the officer shot him dead. The marshal will not be arrested.

Looking Into Reclamation Work.

San Francisco, Sept. 29.—Secretary of War Taft and a few members of his party have left here for a trip up the Sacramento river as the guests of the reclamation committee. The secretary will examine into the site of the draw-bridge as proposed by the Southern Pacific, and he will also make an examination of the reclamation work that is being done along the river.

May Defer His Decision.

Chicago, Sept. 29.—Yesterday afternoon Judge Humphrey heard the closing arguments on the plea of abatement filed by the packers against the indictment charging them with illegal methods of conducting business. The court declared that while it was possible that he would hand down his decision today, it is not certain that he will do so.

Little Sister's Fatal Error.

Michigan City, Ind., Sept. 30.—The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pries of this city is dead as the result of being fed morphine pills by his older sister, who thought they were candy beans.

Careful Consideration Will Be Given on the Ground to the Proposals Facing the Board.

To Determine Whether Canal Shall Be at Sea Level, Lock System On Lock and Lake.

New York, Sept. 29.—The board of consulting engineers and several members of the Panama canal commission have sailed for Colon on the steamship Havana. Their purpose is to inspect the work already done on the canal and also its proposed route, in order to report to the commission the best kind of a canal to build. In the party were

THEODORE PERRY SHONTS.

T. P. Shonts, chairman of the commission, Rear Admiral M. T. Endicott, Colonel O. H. Ernst and B. M. Harrod, all of the canal commission. Speaking of the work to be accomplished by the present trip, Mr. Shonts said:

"Just how long the board of engineers will remain on the isthmus is a question I cannot answer. In theory the board has considered the three proposed plans for the building of the canal—the sea level canal, the lock canal and the lock and lake canal. They will give these plans careful consideration on the ground and then report. It does not follow, however, that the canal commission will be bound to follow their advice. If they give a unanimous report in favor of a certain kind of canal, it is probable that the commission will favor that form of canal as being the very best. If they give a majority and minority report it will rest entirely with the commission which one to accept or whether to reject both. The commission advises the president of its decision and he in turn notifies congress."

Sailing with the commissioners and the advisory board of engineers on the Havana were Assistant Secretary of the Navy Charles H. Darling; Senator Joseph H. Millard of Nebraska; Congressman Irving P. Wanger of Pennsylvania; and J. E. Markel, who was recently awarded the contract to furnish food to the canal employees.

Morgan Will Stay at Home.

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 29.—Senator John T. Morgan of Alabama has written a letter to Chairman T. P. Shonts of the Panama canal commission, declining the invitation to accompany the commission to Panama. The senator thinks nothing will be accomplished by the trip.

MORE EVIDENCE

Aid Was Given Venezuelan Rebels by the Bermudez Company.

New York, Sept. 29.—The Bermudez Asphalt company's railroad transported revolutionary troops in Venezuela during the Matos rebellion in 1901, its steamer Viking carried revolutionary supplies and the company's acting superintendent on more than one occasion gave the revolutionists food and supplies. Testimony to this effect was given by John Perry, who was acting superintendent for the company in 1901, in the suit brought by the Venezuelan government to recover $11,000,000 from the asphalt company because of the company's alleged participation in this revolution. Perry declared, however, that the revolutionary troops were transported only because similar transportation had been accorded the government troops; that the supplies and arms carried on the Viking were smuggled on board by individuals without the company's consent, and that his contribution of food and supplies to the revolutionists was entirely a personal act and was done to avoid the trouble a refusal would have caused. Perry said he had been appointed acting superintendent to succeed Superintendent Jeffs, who had been suspended for assisting the Matos element.

Boston Still Puzzled.

Boston, Sept. 29.—The situation in the suit-case murder mystery today is substantially the same as it was a week ago, when the gruesome find was made.

SUEZ CANAL CLOSED

Destruction of a Dynamite Ship Suspends Navigation.

Port Said, Sept. 29.—The wreck of the British steamer Chatham in the Suez canal, with her cargo of ninety tons of dynamite and blasting gelatine was blown up by mines distributed around and inside her hull. These were fired by an electric current from Raseleh, about five miles away. The explosion was tremendous. The enormous displacement of water was visible from Raseleh. The Chatham was sunk when a fire, which got beyond control, was about to reach the explosives in the hold.

A huge column of water, sand and the ship's wreckage was thrown 2,000 feet in the air and in falling destroyed 600 feet of the east bank of the canal. Divers immediately commenced removing the debris, which will close the canal for about four days.

PEOPLE ARE RESTLESS

Situation in Hungary Is Like a Powder Magazine.

Budapest, Sept. 29.—There is no abatement of the popular unrest. The socialists gathered again last night, this time in front of the Imperial club, but the police were more energetic than they were Wednesday night and dispersed the groups as soon as they formed, thus preventing disorder. A meeting of students passed off without incident. Reports from the provinces show increasing support for the coalition parties, but notwithstanding this there is a considerable element in Hungary outside the socialist ranks that continues to remain in opposition to the coalition. This element is encouraged by well authenticated reports from Austria of an almost unanimous sentiment in favor of the crown and that even the Austrian socialists are opposing the Hungarian movement because the coalition is opposed to universal suffrage in Hungary.

A CLOSE SECRET

Grand Jury's Action in Sherrick Case Is Carefully Guarded.

DEFINITE INFORMATION

Concerning the Work of the Inquisitorial Body in This Case Has Not Been Given Out.

Auditor Bigler Has Made a Partial Report on His Preliminary "House Cleaning."

Indianapolis, Sept. 29.—Warren Bigler of Wabash, who succeeded David E. Sherrick as auditor of state when the latter was forced by Governor Hanly to resign because of a shortage of $145,000 in his accounts, said today that an investigation has been completed of the insurance notes and securities accepted by Mr. Sherrick, and all of them have been found to be good. He said that the "house cleaning" promised by Governor Hanly has not been commenced, as an expert has not been employed to go over the books. One will be employed soon, however, and a thorough investigation made. Just before Sherrick was deposed a suit was filed to compel him to exhibit certain securities belonging to an insurance company, but according to Mr. Bigler there have been no mistakes in the insurance department. Neither he nor anyone familiar with the office believe that any discrepancies will be found in the books, as Mr. Billheimer, Mr. Reed and all the deputies were painstaking in their work. When the investigation is finished it will doubtless show that every book has been correctly kept and every voucher and warrant properly issued so far as all the deputies are concerned. No definite information as to whether the Sherrick case investigation has yet been completed by the grand jury can be obtained. Three indictments have been correctly kept and every voucher and warrant properly issued so far as all the deputies are concerned. ### DEADLY STREET DUEL

Bad Man Makes Attack on Officer and Is Slain.

Columbus, Ind., Sept. 29.—William Allen, a butcher, and Policeman George Smith engaged in a pistol duel, as a result of which Allen is dead and Smith has a scalp wound. Policeman Smith was on Fourth street, when suddenly a man came from behind a building and in an instant a shot was fired at Smith, who was only about eight feet distant. The ball struck Smith squarely in the forehead and knocked him to the ground. However, he did not lose his presence of mind, and, drawing his gun, he returned the fire.

Allen shot once more before turning and retreating, but the ball went wide. After running a short distance he turned and fired three more shots at the prostrate officer. Smith also shot five times and two of the shots found lodgment in the abdomen. Both men emptied their weapons, Smith doing all his firing while prostrated. The bullet which struck Smith plowed four inches between the scalp and skull and did not wound him seriously.

Allen has been a police character for several years and repeatedly threatened to kill different members of the force.

Saved by Silver Dollar.

Noblesville, Ind., Sept. 29.—James Parish, a farmer, attempted to kill Dr. Madison Harrell, and then escaped. Dr. Harrell was talking with some friends in front of the Sopher saloon when Parish stepped up and said: "I am going to kill you." Dr. Harrell grabbed the man's arm, and the revolver he held was discharged. The bullet struck a silver dollar in Dr. Harrell's pocket and glanced off. The doctor took the weapon from Parish, who ran from the crowd and escaped. Dr. Harrell says he does not know why Parish attempted to kill him.

Preparing for Final Fight.

Morocco, Ind., Sept. 29.—Both factions in the Newton county seat fight are preparing for the legal battle which will come off in the October term of the circuit court. If those opposing the building of a new courthouse win in the coming fight it is likely that the partially constructed courthouse at Kentland will be torn down and carted away and the old structure made to do duty for another quarter of a century.

Will Exceed Appropriation.

Huntington, Ind., Sept. 29.—It is stated that when the Huntington county courthouse is completed and furnished it will have cost about $400,000. The building is now up to the square, and construction is progressing rapidly. The original contract under which the contractor began work called for $260,000.

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 29.

Lewis Becker, despondent over his wife's continued illness from consumption, went out into his front yard and blew out his brains with a revolver.

PERKINS OBJECTS

Man of Many Financial Connections Has a Tilt With Mr. Hughes.

MR. MORGAN'S BUSINESS

Demand For the Books of Morgan & Co. Brings Out an Objection on the Part of Mr. Perkins.

Sensational Testimony Produced Regarding Advances Made to Insurance Agents.

New York, Sept. 29.—Several sensational incidents developed at the session of the legislative committee on life insurance investigation Thursday. The first was when George W. Perkins, vice president of the New York Life Insurance company, and member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., objected to producing the books of his firm showing a certain transaction of that firm with New York Life.

Mr. Perkins offered to present a copy of the entry in question from the books, but Mr. Hughes demanded the books after several refusals on the part of Mr. Perkins. The books will be produced later.

In the course of his testimony Mr. Perkins, asked concerning the difference in the state of "profits from securities" in the Massachusetts report of the company and of "net profits from securities" in the New York report, said:

"When we get national supervision we won't have these conflicts between the different states."

Mr. Perkins testified to a number of transactions in which he represented Morgan & Co. as seller and the New York Life Insurance company as purchaser.

Another sensation was sprung later in the day when Vice President Thos. A. Buckner of the New York Life Insurance company detailed the advances made to agents and which were carried in the report to the state superintendent of insurance as "commuting renewal premiums." It was brought out as a matter of fact that these advances were loans, but were not carried as such. Mr. Buckner testified that advances were made to agents sometimes as inducements to leave other companies and enter the employ of the New York Life.

A situation of conflict in Buffalo in 1901 between the Equitable and the New York Life was brought out, and in order to get agents of the Equitable away from that company, liberal advances and liberal contracts were made by the New York Life. Mr. Buckner testified that these advances to agents in the Buffalo branch of the New York Life in 1902 alone exceeded by $48,000 the amount really earned by these agents. Later Mr. Buckner acknowledged this was most extravagant and said in 1903 the amount was cut down by half and by half the remaining amount in 1904.

A copy of a contract and a confidential letter to David H. Desbecker of Buffalo, one of the agents in question, showing the inducements held out for him to enter the employ of the New York Life was read.

While Mr. Perkins was on the stand during the afternoon there was somewhat of a clash between the witness and Mr. Hughes, the first of anything of this nature that has occurred since the committee began its sessions. It was when Mr. Perkins was testifying to the monies in the "Nylie" fund of which he is trustee.

Mr. Perkins did not want it to appear on the records that the agents paid part of their salaries into the fund under contract, unless the words "and bonuses" appeared. He said to Mr. Hughes that he (Hughes) was trying to get away from something, and the counsel hotly retorted that he was not, and that if Mr. Perkins would answer his question much better progress would be made with the investigation.

Earlier in the day Henry R. Winthrop of the Equitable, while on the stand presented a statement of the transfers of the stock of the Equitable at the time of its change of management and the directorate. Most of the transfers Mr. Winthrop was able to explain, but some he was not. At the time of these transfers Mr. Winthrop was the holder of twenty-five shares. He thought the actual owner was Jas. H. Hyde, as he turned the checks for dividends over to Mr. Hyde.

Mr. Winthrop was again called to the stand just before adjournment. Mr. Buckner having given way, to explain a trustee account brought up earlier in the day. Mr. Winthrop presented a typewritten statement of the account and said the loans would be paid off in a few days and the collateral entered on the books of the company. Before Mr. Buckner retired, however, he was asked to produce a statement of the expenses of the Paris office, with a record of the real estate held there and the business that comes under that jurisdiction. Mr. Buckner had been questioned most of the afternoon on foreign business and its cost to the home office.

FORGER'S BOLD GAME

Prominent New York Bank Victimized for $360,000.

New York, Sept. 29.—The details of a scheme whereby a prominent local financial institution was recently victimized by a clever forger have just come out. The forger presented a bogus check bearing the name of a well-known stock exchange firm and received in return securities valued at about $360,000.

The name of the institution is not disclosed, but it is believed to be a prominent national bank operating in the financial district.

Pearl & Co., stock brokers at 27 William street, recently negotiated a one-day loan for $300,000 with this institution. On Wednesday a check for the amount of the loan, plus $37.50 for the one day's interest, was presented at this bank by a stranger who received the security deposited by Pearl & Co. for the loan. The bank on which the brokers' check was drawn is one with which Pearl & Co. never had an account, so the forgery was not discovered until the check had passed through the clearing-house exchange, when it was promptly branded as fictitious. A private detective agency was called in and transfer of the securities was at once stopped.

The detectives intimate that they have a clue to the identity of the forger, who is believed to have had one or more accomplices. It is believed that the forger had an intimate knowledge of Pearl & Co.'s affairs. The firm of Pearl & Co. consists of Dyer Pearl and E. A. Slayback. Mr. Pearl is now in Europe. The members of the firm own stock exchange seats, and their operations on the board have at various times been very extensive. The securities offered by Pearl & Co. for their loan and surrendered by the bank for a piece of worthless paper, include 1,000 shares United States Steel common; 1,000 shares Rock Island common; 1,000 shares Metropolitan Street railway; 700 shares Missouri Pacific; 200 shares North American company; 47 American Tobacco company 6 per cent bonds, and some Wabash debenture "B" bonds.

SHOCKING TEXAS TRAGEDY

Woman and Four Children Cruelly Murdered on a Rice Farm.

Edna, Tex., Sept. 29.—Mrs. A. J. Condit and four children, a daughter of thirteen and three boys from six to ten years old, were murdered in cold blood at their home near here. The mother and daughter were assaulted and their bodies brutally disfigured.

A baby about two years old was the only one left alive. All of them seemed to have been murdered with some blunt instrument, their heads were crushed and their throats cut with a knife or razor. The girl and mother were killed in the house, the boys were killed about 100 yards away.

Mr. Condit was away working in the rice fields. The entire county is out in posess in search of the murderer. It is supposed there were two of them.

Militia on Guard.

Russellville, Ky., Sept. 29.—The Bowling Green & Hopkinsville military companies and the Frankfort battery are here guarding Polk Fletcher and Guy Long, the alleged assassins of Mary Gladder. Fletcher's case was called yesterday and after a motion for a change of venue was overruled, the case was continued until today to give the sheriff time to summon a special venire of 250 men from Simpson county.

Holding Back Decision.

Wooster, Ohio, Sept. 29.—Judge Samuel B. Eason, before whom the Taggart divorce case was heard, announced yesterday that he would not be ready to give his decision on Saturday as expected, but would surely be ready some day next week.

"By common consent, the only issue in this campaign is whether negro suffrage put upon us against our will by force shall be restricted and its power for evil destroyed," says the platform adopted by the Maryland Democratic state convention.

STARVING IN RUSHVILLE

Men and Women Who Are in Need—Johnson's Liberal Offer.

There are scores of people in Rushville and vicinity who are starving in the midst of plenty. This is not because they are in need of food, but because they cannot digest the food they eat.

Our leading druggist, F. B. Johnson, makes a liberal offer to all whose stomachs are weak and cannot properly digest the food. He has recently received a large supply of Mi-o-na, a remedy for the cure of stomach troubles, and will sell it under an absolute guarantee that it costs nothing unless it cures.

Mi-o-na is an unusual combination of remedies for the stomach and digestive organs that heretofore have been little known in this country. It soothes and heals the irritated mucous membrane of the stomach, stimulates the solar plexus, and strengthens the nervous system.

One little tablet out of a 50 cent box of Mi-o-na before meals, and you can eat what you like and when you like. You have no more headaches, backaches, heart-burn, or indigestion. Mi-o-na will give you perfect health and strength.

Get a box of the tablets today, with F. B. Johnson's guarantee to refund the money if they do not cure.

OYSTER SUPPER AT GOWDY.

Help Your Church or Favorite Organization Win

The $300 Prize Piano Offered by the Rushville Republican.

There's only one sure way to get anything worth getting—that's by going after it earnestly, vigorously, persistently. If you want your church or organization to get The Republican's $300.00 Piano, demonstrate your desire, by the casting of your own votes and enlisting the efforts of your fellow-members. Constitute yourself a committee of one to keep the good work going. Appoint your friends' sub-committees with full powers to negotiate with neutral parties and to gather in the elusive floating vote. Remember that on the First of November some one of the contestants will receive, free of all cost, a $300.00 Chase Piano—and your favorite might as well be the fortunate recipient of this valuable prize.

The Piano is now on exhibition at THE REPUBLICAN OFFICE. No one should fail to see it. Its a magnificent instrument, purchased by The Republican from The Starr Piano Company, of Indianapolis, and is fully guaranteed in every respect.

THE WAY TO WIN IS TO WORK. DON'T LET A SINGLE VOTE GET AWAY.

LOCAL BREVITIES

Generally fair north portion; showers southern portion tonight and Saturday.

Fred Yazel has a very sore foot, the result of stepping on a rusty nail one day last week.

James Keating has just completed his new and modern residence, which is located on East Fifth street.

Some of the farmers in this county are sowing their wheat over on account of the damage done by insects.

Several young colored gentlemen have left this city in the last week on account of theft charges being preferred against them.

We notice in a Bloomington dispatch to the Indianapolis Star that Otis Caldwell, of this city, is one of the new men pledged by the Sigma Nu fraternity.

The Republicans of Greensburg have nominated: Mayor, Frank Thompson; clerk, Ernest Epstein; treasurer, Dale Welsh; councilman-at-large, John O. Horning and J. C. Robinson.

Two of the five abatments for the I. & C. Traction company's bridge over Flatrock have been completed, and the work on the third will be finished by the last of this week.

As the result of an explosion of a coal oil stove in the residence of Manuel Montgomery in Walkerville, a suburb of Shelbyville, yesterday, his home is in ashes with a loss of $3000. It was insured for $900.

Connorsville Courier: There is, it would seem, almost enough men, horses and machinery along the I. & C. line between here and Rushville to cover the right-of-way. If anyone thinks the line is not to be built yet this fall, he has another guess coming.

Supt. Headlee of the Rush county schools is writing a short book on the history of the high school in Rush county and a course of study for high school work. The book will be a great help to the principals of the different township schools in carrying on their work.

Louis Ludlow in the Indianapolis Star says: "After eight years in office John K. Gowdy's tenure as Consul General at Paris will expire day after tomorrow and he will return home worth $100,000 more than when he left. Mr. Gowdy is coming directly to Washington to pay his respects to the President.

The trial of Chas. Ward, who was picked out by the blood hounds at Laurel last spring at the time of the big robbery there and held on a charge of stealing a pair of rubber boots, was heard at Brookville this week and he was acquitted. The evidence against him, it is said, was not sufficient for conviction.

Local hunters are rejoicing over the fact that there are more quail in this locality than there has been for some seasons. Quail will become shootable under the new law on November 10th. The squirrels, which are now shootable and will remain so until December 1st are also unusually numerous and occasionally ducks are thus early seen flying southward.

There has been much discussion among the stockholders and directors of the Equitable Building and Loan Association as to the nature of the law suit which was filed against the association, Thursday. Some of the directors claim that the suit is against the stockholders as well as the directors, but it is understood that the suit is against the directors only.

The growth of wheat sown thus far has been very fine, as the ground has been moist and the weather warm with plenty of sunshine. Three things are always necessary to the most perfect growth and development of plant life, given a fertile soil, they are light heat and moisture. This is particularly noticeable in the growth and development of tropical plants.

Connorsville News: Mrs. George Daniels, of Rushville, formerly Miss Ruby Griffin, of this city, is dangerously ill at St. Vincent's hospital at Indianapolis, as the result of surgical operation for the relief of a liver affection. Her condition is very serious and her recovery is doubtful. Her mother, Mrs. Lon Griffin, is attending her bedside.

An enthusiastic meeting of Connorsville lodge of Elks was held Tuesday evening, that marked the inauguration of an interesting winter's campaign. Aside from the regular lodge work, the Connorsville Elks expect to give a number of social sessions and are also planning some sort of entertainment for the amusement of the public. It is not unlikely that the entertainment will take the form of an indoor fair or minstrel show.

All up-to-date housekeepers use Red Cross Ball Blue. It makes clothes clean and sweet as when new. All grocers.

FARMERS TO VISIT PURDUE

An Opportunity to See the Indiana Experiment Station at Lafayette.

Farmers of Rush county will have a splendid opportunity to visit the Agricultural Experiment Station and Purdue University, and see what is being done at that station for their benefit.

The managers of the Rush County Farmers' Institute have arranged to run an excursion to Lafayette over the traction lines on Wednesday, October 11th, for the purpose of giving Rush county people an opportunity to examine the work done at the Agricultural Station at Purdue University.

In case a party of fifty or more can be made up, the fare will be $2.15 for the round trip. In order to make this arrangement it will be necessary for Thos. A. Coleman to know who will go. Anyone desiring to go on the excursion should make it known to him on or before October 4th.

This should be a delightful outing for the farmer and his family after a prosperous season, and at the same time a great deal of valuable information may be gained by getting in touch with the agricultural work of our State institution.

SOCIETIES AND SECRET ORDERS

Are Getting Ready for a Brilliant Season the Coming Winter.

By the first of October, Rushville will have awakened from its mid-summer lethargy and literary, social and lodge work will be in full blast. Many of the literary and social organizations have already held their inaugural meetings of the year, while others will take up the work within a few days. The lodges are planning vigorous campaigns, and this early the work of exemplifying the mysteries of the secret societies has been started.

Rushville promises to be real gay this season and the society editor will be kept busy chronicling the many events that are planned. A number of the new evening and afternoon card clubs are now in session and the organization of several more is being talked of. A young married folk's club is among the number, and a dancing club is also on the calendar.

Thus far but few private entertainments have been given, but before the season has been far advanced, a number of handsome affairs of this character are promised. The Halloween season will furnish an excuse for a number of elaborate affairs.

Additional Local News.

—Brookville American: George Roller, of Rushville, was here the first of the week attending to some business matters and visiting friends.

—Senator Bert Ogborn, of New Castle, visited Owen L. Carr, Congressman Watson and other local politicians yesterday.

Mrs. John Eckels, on North Sexton street, had two pillows stolen from her porch last night. The parties are known and to avoid prosecution are requested to return them.

At the Main Street Christian church, next Sunday, the pastor will preach morning and evening. Morning subject, "A Glorious Church;" evening subject, "The Obedience of Faith."

Harry L. Gordon, a cousin of William Gordon, of this city, was nominated for mayor of Cincinnati last night on the Republican ticket. Mr. Gordon was born in Metamora, Franklin county, in 1869, and has always been a staunch and active Republican.

As much as there is no such girl as this in Rushville, we will cite a similar instance in another city: A certain Greensburg girl of eighteen gets up in the morning, eats breakfast which her mother has prepared, goes upstairs and takes care of her own room and then goes down town, sometimes taking two hours to buy a spool of thread. She eats dinner her mother has prepared, wears clothes her mother has made, spends the afternoon reading novels or gathering with her friends, eats supper her mother has prepared and spends the evening with her boy friend. She has done nothing wicked all day, and her mother is satisfied that she is bringing her up right. But is she?

CHURCH NEWS

Shelbyville Democrat: Lafayette Peck, of Rush county, is in this city today calling on some of his friends.

The Ladies of the U. P. church will have an exchange tomorrow (Saturday) in the Tyner room, north of the Kramer butcher shop.

Columbus Republican: The Rev. B. M. Hyde, of Indianapolis, who has been selected to succeed the Rev. J. M. Baxter, as presiding elder for the Seymour district of the Methodist conference, will probably live in this city. Rev. Baxter lived in Seymour, but the elder has a right to live anywhere he cares to, and Rev. Hyde has signified his intention of moving here if he can find a house.

Frankfort Times: Soon after Rev. William J. Russell became pastor of the Christian church of Frankfort, he called the attention of the congregation to the deplorable condition of the hymn books, and urged the purchasing of new ones to supply the entire congregation. A few weeks ago pledges were taken for this purpose and as a result of this effort the books were purchased.

First Presbyterian church, Rev. Thomas H. McConnell, pastor.—9:15 a. m., Sabbath school and Bible classes; 10:30 a. m., service of worship with sermon on "An Autumnal Meditation"; 6:00 p. m., Christian Endeavor; subject, "The Joy of Church Membership;" leader, Jessie Kitchen; 7:30 p. m., service of praise with sermon on "A Loving Entreaty." Special music. Please observe the change in time for the night service from 7:30 to 7:00 o'clock.

HORSE NOTES

Will Dagler, the popular and successful Rushville, Ind., trainer and race driver, and his Bourbon Patchen pacer, Star Patch, are pretty much "some pumpkins," eh! At Libertyville, Ill., last week they landed the first heat of the 2:37 pacing stake in 2:07 1/2, and Ernie McHaffie, another Indiana "kid," was a close second with Ed Patch, the "son of his father, Dan."

Mr. John Merrell, owner of John Taylor, 2:08 1/4, was at the Indianapolis track on Saturday last, in company with Dick Wilson, and had the pleasure of seeing Mart Wilson drive his green trotter, Frank Herdic, a mile in 2:12 1/4, the middle half in 1:03.

H. L. Hernly, New Castle, Ind., won a great race at the Ft. Wayne, Ind., meeting with his splendid trotting stallion Heliograph. He defeated a field of good ones, winning the third, fourth and fifth heats in 2:16 1/2, 2:17 1/2 and 2:17 1/2. Heliograph has won many races this year.

The season is near at hand when the pesky little fly and the soda fountains will be forced out of business by the lowering of the temperature and some of the local fiz dispensers are preparing to put their fountains into winter quarters. Following immediately in the retreating steps of the summer drinks will come the hot soda, which is a winter drink, heretofore but sparsely concocted in this city. There are but three or four machines for the making of hot sodas in Rushville and one of these is to be put in operation soon. A hot soda consists chiefly, if not wholly, of hot water and the flavor you prefer.

Red Cross Ball Blue should be in every home. Ask your grocer for it. Large 2 oz. package only 5 cents.
